UltraTape Showcases Tape and Label Products for Controlled Pharmaceutical Environments at Upcoming CHINA-PHARM 2010 Conference

October 7, 2010. UltraTape Industries, a division of Delphon and the premier supplier of critical environment tapes and labels to the Medical/Pharmaceutical, Aerospace, and Semiconductor industries, will showcase its new UltraLabel PRO thermal transfer label printer as well as its Cuff Sealing and Security Tapes at the upcoming CHINA-PHARM 2010 Conference in Beijing October 26-29. The new label printer provides a one-stop solution for label and sign making using a single machine. The UltraLabel PRO offers customers efficient, low cost, high quality printing and label supplies for environments where cleanliness, particulates and contamination are a concern.

The UltraLabel PRO is a versatile label printer that is easy to use and produces a wide variety of labels. It is a convenient and effective solution to visual label communication needs. "The unique design of the UltraLabel PRO, combined with the wide variety of custom supplies offered by UltraTape, results in the most versatile critical environment printer on the market," says

UltraTape

Barbara J. Groff, UltraTape Sales and Marketing Manager.

"Incorporating this printer into our cleanroom improved our material traceability process, decreased our product label costs by 40% and improved our labor rate within one month of implementation," says Ryan Cunningham UltraTape Production Manager.

The Company's Cuff Sealing tape is ideal for sealing the area between the glove and the garment while the Security Tapes ensure the secure transportation of valuable assets packed or unpacked in low particulate environments. All Three offerings are perfect for applications where particulates and contamination are a concern.
